Dancers from the Inner City Ensemble display some of the graceful moves that will be part of their program

Paterson troupe to perform Symphony Hall will present Inner City Theater and Dance Company

The Inner City Ensemble Theater and Dance Company of Paterson will make its debut performance in the Performance Time For Young People series at Symphony Hall at 10 a.m. Nov. 16.

Founded in 1973 by director Ralph Gomez, The Inner City troupe is a teenage professional company that participates in modern and jazz dance and theater productions.

Because of the success of the Dance Time for Young People Series—performances by professional dance companies for students in grades four through 12 given last spring—a series of fall offerings at Symphony Hall has been extended, according to a spokesman.

The series will continue with Safari East Musical Journey on Nov. 29 and the Newark Boys Chorus on Dec. 13. Both programs also start at 10 a.m.

Among other activities to take place during November at Symphony Hall is the staging of Langston Hughes' "Black Nativity." The play, to be produced by the Theater for Universal Images," will open Nov. 17 and 18 at 8:30 p.m. and will run through the Christmas season. For information, call 596-0407.

Next Monday "Show Argentino," featuring Jorge Procel, will take place at 8 p.m. It is being produced by Fermocelle Productions. For ticket information call 643-4550.

The Marvin Hagler vs. Roberto Duran championship boxing match will be shown Thursday at 8 p.m. on closed circuit television at the hall, beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are $20. On Nov. 17 the Newark Police Athletic League will sponsor a live professional boxing program, which also starts at 8.

The New Jersey State Opera "gala performance and dinner dance" is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19. Alfredo Silipigni will conduct the New Jersey State Opera Orchestra. Tickets range from $10 to $32.

The Temptations and Four Tops will appear at Symphony Hall at 8 p.m. Nov. 20. Tickets start at $12.50.
